CONGRESSIONAL ADJOURNMENT.

As we predicted last night, Congress did not adjourn yesterday afternoon, but postponed the final break-up until this evening at six o'clock, when the second session of the Forty-fifth Congress will adjourn sine die, for which the country will have occasion for hearty rejoicing. Congress has been in continuous session since October 15th of last year, making in all 247 days, 49 of which were consumed by the first session of the Forty-fifth Congress, beginning in October and closing on the 31 of December last. Including the first session, Congress has had a long sitting, and has done the country as little good as any people have paid for in many years. The longest session of Congress ever held was the first session of the Thirty-first, which began on the 31 of December, 1849, and adjourned on the 30th of September, 1850, making 302 days. Seven sessions only in the history of the Government have run over 250 days. The second session of the Twenty-seventh—309 days; the first session of the Twenty-ninth—253 days; the first session of the Thirty-first—302 days; the first session of the Thirty-fourth—263 days; and the first session of the Forty-fifth, beginning on the 6th of December, 1875, and adjourned on the 15th of August, 1876—292 days.

Congress has done but little important legislation for the country; in fact aside from the reorganization of silver it has done nothing. The greatest measure before Congress—one which would benefit the country more than any other—was the Wadsworth postal savings bill, and notwithstanding its vast importance, and the loud cry for its passage, it received but little attention. Instead of legislation for the benefit of the people, especially for the great mass of working men and women, Congress was too much engaged in the attempt to make political capital. The Republican members to whom the country looks for salvation in all cases of emergency, should have taken up the matter and pushed it forward and thus made the Democrats show their hand. Had this been done, the Republicans would not only have made political capital for the hour of need, but they would have done the country a valuable service.

The power of Vinnie Ream on a lobbyist is well illustrated by this dispatch from Washington: Lieutenant Hoxie, whom she has recently married, is an officer of the Engineer Corps, and stationed at Washington as Engineer of the District of Columbia. During his absence on the wedding tour Congress passed the bill reorganizing the District government and providing for the appointment of three commissioners, one of whom is to be an officer of the engineer corps, to represent the interests of the government, and his enemies secured the insertion of a clause providing that the engineer-commissioner should be of rank above that of captain, which ruled Hoxie out. When Vinnie Ream came back she went to work and with her bridegroom was at the Capitol all last night interviewing Senators. She was successful in securing the insertion in the sundry civil bill of a clause repealing that provision in the district government bill which debarred her husband from being appointed a District commissioner.

The New York Sun is becoming disgusted even with the Democrats at Washington. If there is anything on earth Dana hates it is a Republican, and that the Democrats should kill the investigation as they did last week, makes him rave. He republishes the resolution passed by the House of Representatives, March 3, 1877, declaring Tilden and Hendricks elected, and calls attention to the fact that every one of "the Democratic dirt-eaters who made the majority report from the Judiciary Committee on the President's title voted for the resolution of March 3, 1877.

Kansas is a marvelous country, if we can believe the Lawrence Journal, from which the following is taken: "Just think of it! Mr. Reese, on the Wankaruss, has harvested his wheat, and is now plowing the same ground for corn! A dubious neighbor offers to help gather the corn free of charge if a crop is raised. But it can be done. Anything is possible in Kansas, even wheat harvest in May and two crops in the year. O, what a country!"

The Confederate scheme to pay rebel contractors for work done before the war, added another day to the length of the session. As the Democrats were in the majority, the bill was tacked to the sundry civil bill and passed the Senate and will of course go through the House. The rebel bill passed the Senate by the aid of Christianity, of Michigan, who "professes" to be a reformer. Poor kind of a reformer.

The United States Senate put its heel on the Civil Rights bill on Monday, in a way which insulted the memory of Charles Sumner. President Hayes nominated two colored men for Justices of the Peace, in the District of Columbia, but the Senate refused to confirm them.

We publish to-day additional news from various localities concerning the crops which will be found of special interest. The outlook is very encouraging from a majority of the points from which information has been received.

Terrence J. Quinn, member of Congress from the Sixteenth District of New York, died at Albany on Tuesday. He was a brewer by profession, and was 42 years old. It was his first term.

Potter's Committee, which began to feel like a set of whipped curs, will virtually end an existence with the adjournment of Congress.

THE APPROPRIATIONS.

The Bad Management of the House Democrats—The Largest Appropriations Ever Passed.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The sundry civil bill is one of the largest ever passed, but it necessarily must have been because of the fishery award which constitutes one fifth of it, and deficiencies which were caused by Democratic parsimony, which constitute another fifth. Whatever extravaganzas there may be in this bill the House Appropriation Committee are to blame for because of their wretched management during the present session. Had the committee gone deliberately to work, perfected their bills and reported them, so that they might have received intelligent scrutiny from the public, and decent consideration in both branches of Congress, it is probable that very many of the items contained in the sundry civil bill would not have succeeded in getting through. Of course the Senate and its Committee on Appropriations should receive a full measure of responsibility for adopting the extravaganzas incorporated in these bills by the House, but the greatest share of responsibility rests with the House Committee for its unnecessary delay in reporting the bills and its bad management after they were reported. Long after the Senate adopted a resolution naming June 10th as the day for final adjournment, the Atkins committee permitted the House to consume many days in general debate, during which members were permitted to read long and stupid speeches upon every subject except the one before the House. Had the Committee on Appropriations saved the time thus consumed, and held the House to the consideration of these important measures, they would have all been completed weeks ago, and the Treasury would not have been exposed to the numerous schemes which will be found in the sundry civil and other appropriation bills lately passed, and which make it impossible to detect. The sundry civil, which is now pending, and the river and harbor, will together take nearly $35,000,000 from the Treasury unless President Hayes will exhibit the courage and wisdom displayed by General Grant in refusing to expend more than was actually needed.

WHISKY.

It Takes One Hundred Dollars worth to Supply a Congressional Funeral Committee.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—It will be remembered that in Glover's fishing excursion he pulled up Morrison, whom he charged with having assisted in misappropriating money appropriated to pay the expenses of the Louisiana committee, of which he was Chairman. Morrison, of course, was very angry, and has been at Glover all the session to have the matter further investigated. Glover has promised to do so, but left for home yesterday, without fulfilling his promise. This morning Morrison secured a meeting of the other members of the committee, and Donovin, of Ohio, who was Sergeant-at-Arms of the committee, and disbursed the money, made a statement in which he said that there was no misappropriation of money, and if there was, Morrison was not responsible for it. This left Morrison out, but it is not yet known whether or not he was guilty of embezzlement, as was charged. In regard to providing $100 worth of whisky for the use of the committee, Donovin pleaded guilty, but he said it was customary to provide as much whisky as this for parties of Congressmen who went to the funeral of their colleagues who died during sessions.

THE POTTER FRAUD.

They Prolong Their Recession—Senator Kellogg and Minister Noyes.

WASHINGTON, June 18.—The Potter Committee have prolonged its recess until Thursday. It then expects to examine Senator Kellogg in regard to the duplicated returns from Louisiana. Although this part of the case is quite threadbare, it seems to be nursed, affording an excuse for not calling Mrs. Jenks.

Not a particle of evidence has been presented even to the Florida Sub Committee against Noyes. He finds himself here with nothing to answer except the unjust preamble of Potter's resolution. General Butler, however, is understood to be preparing to go extensively into the matter of the Louisiana Commission. The action of the Senate Republicans in refusing to pay the expenses indicates the general feeling among the Republicans here as to the character of the work they performed.

COMMENCEMENT.

The Commencement Exercises of the Milwaukee Female College.

MILWAUKEE, June 18.—The commencement exercises of the Milwaukee Female College, this evening, attracted a large assembly of the first females of the city. The address was made by the Rev. Thomas K. Beecher, of Elmira, New York, and the exercises were of a superior order throughout. Degrees were conferred upon Abbie May Bunker, of North Anson, Me., and May Blossom, Margaret Elizabeth Campbell, Julia Weston Emmons, and Josephine Catherine Tark, of Milwaukee.

THE HARVEST.

Favorable Reports from the North and Southwest.

MINNESOTA.

WINDOM, Cottonwood County, June 17.—The outlook for small grain was never better. Corn small. Growing slow.

UTICA, Winona County, June 17.—Wheat and oats look fine. Barley recovering from the effects of frost. The cool weather will have a tendency to retard the work of the chinch-bug.

EASTON, Faribault County, June 17.—In the recollection of the oldest settler small grain was never better. Corn backward, and not more than half the usual amount planted.

WATERVILLE, Le Sueur Co., June 17.—Since the late rains, wheat, oats, and barley have rapidly improved. We expect a fair crop only. Say 17 bushels. Weather has been of snow and cold.

LA VERNE, Rock Co., June 17.—Small grains of all kinds are larger and the prospect better for a crop by 25 per cent. Corn has made a good stand and is now growing finely. No signs of injurious insects. Farmers all feel good.

ILLINOIS.

PHILLIPSTOWN, White Co., June 17.—Wheat 75 per cent in the shock. Put up in good order. Weather has been splendid for harvest. "Rock" our latest variety, will be cut this week. In good condition. Corn deficient in stock.

ASHTON, Lee Co., June 17.—The outlook for corn is poor. In all conditions from a good stand to nothing on wet ground. Average stand, two-thirds.

KENTUCKY.

PEMBROKE, Christian Co., Ky., June 17.—Winter wheat not half a crop. Was put up in good order. Harvesting generally over, and threshing commenced in earnest.

MISSOURI.

JAMESON, Davies Co., June 17.—Wheat is now being harvested in good condition. Is well filled and good quality. Will average the crop of '77. Late varieties as good as the early.

DAKOTA.

STAR CORNER, Clay Co., June 17.—Small grain is still looking well. No insects. Plenty of rain. Prospect now for a large yield of wheat.

GROVE HILL, Union Co., June 17.—Small grain of all kinds is splendid. Wheat is heading out. The old wheat is mostly sold. The prospects for Dakota were never so fine as today. No grasshoppers have gone North this season. We are having fine, warm rains.

KANSAS.

SHERMAN CITY, Cherokee County, June 17.—Heavy rains on the 6th and 8th inst. have flooded the fields. All wheat just ripe. Quality good. Very little in shock. Too wet to run reapers for four days yet. Cradles are scarce. Situation looks grave. Fields a sea of mud.

EMPIRE, McPherson County, June 17.—Probable yield of winter wheat in this county will be from fifteen to eighteen bushels. Some may go as high as thirty. Quality will be No. 2 and 3. Harvest half over. Grain so far up in the shock shape. Yield compared with 1877, 15 per cent better. Late varieties bid fair to outyield the early varieties. Corn cultivated twice; 12 to 18 inches high.

GRANADA, Nemaha Co., June 17.—Harvest of late wheat will begin to-day. Crop good. No damage from rust or fly.

LONDON, Elk Co., June 17.—Probable yield twenty-five bushels to the acre. Quality of grain could not be better. Not in stock yet. No old grain on hand.

SURGLARY.

WATERTOWN, Wis., June 18.—Sunday night the residence of Joseph Hempel, a farmer in the town of Clyman, Dodge county, ten miles northwest of this city, was robbed of $800 in greenbacks. A workman, who has decamped from the premises, is suspected of being the robber.

The tobacco bill which reduces the tax on that article 16 cents per pound, passed the House Tuesday, by a vote of 130 to 109. It goes into effect on the first of September.

In its last hours, Congress is doing a great deal of poor work.

GENERAL BUTLER.

Impetuous Conduct—A Funny Scene in the House Last Night.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 17.—There was a funny scene in the House to-night. Crapo, of Massachusetts, moved to suspend the rules and pass the bill appropriating $5,500,000 to pay the award of the Italian Fishery Commission. General Butler and Sumner Cox, who are opposed to the passage of the bill, asked an opportunity to debate it, but were refused by the House. Butler insisted upon speaking, and begged for five minutes, but the House refused. Still he persisted, and it became a race between Randall's gavel and Butler's voice as to which could make the most noise. Butler kept on shouting, and the Speaker continued to rap on his desk and call Butler to order. Finally Randall got discouraged, and ordered Butler to sit down. Butler refused, and Randall ordered Sergeant-at-Arms Thompson to compel him. Thompson went over to Butler, put his hand on his shoulder, and Butler sat down. But, as soon as Thompson let him, Butler was up again, and asked for two minutes, which he promised to make a minute to the country, but the House refused, and Randall rapped Butler down again. But Butler persisted, and the House came to Randall's aid and drowned Butler's voice with cries of "regular order." Butler moved over to the official reporters and continued to speak, so as to get his remarks in the Record, but Randall ordered the Sergeant-at-Arms to put him down again. Thompson went over, and Butler, shaking hands with him, took his seat. It requires a two-thirds vote to suspend the rules, and the ayes in this case were not sufficient, so the bill was not passed.

GOING TO PARIS.

Some Hints to Travelers That Deserve Attention.

The attention of people who have a European tour in view the coming summer, is now turning towards the Paris exposition, as the point around which the greatest interest centers. All information as to the best means of communication with the French Capital, is especially welcome to residents of the West, who must first reach the seaboard itself before beginning the all-important ocean voyage. The far-sightedness of the Erie Railway Company has greatly simplified the routine usually thought necessary in perfecting arrangements for a trip to Europe, and unhesitatingly from the West desire to spend a few days in New York previous to their departure, they may leave their homes in the West just in time to "catch" any of the steamers they may have selected to sail in, without alighting in New York days in advance, in order to "fix things" for the voyage. The Erie Railway's eastern terminus is in close proximity to all the Ocean Steamship lines, and passengers and their baggage are transferred from the depot at Jersey City, to the arrival of all trains, directly to the steamer on a continuous and entirely effortless of worry. The remarkably quick and regular time now making by the express trains on this route will enable passengers also to reach New York with the least possible consumption of time.

Intending tourists always select their gate-rooms at the offices of the Ocean Steamship Lines in the West, before starting, and may be said to have "embarked for Europe" when they say good-bye to friends at their respective depots. Another bit of commendable enterprise on the part of the Erie is the publication of a map of Paris, showing the great Exposition buildings, and the leading public edifices and places of interest, that place city of the world. The map is the most complete one of the kind ever published, and it is a suggestive fact that it has been left for the wide-awake management of the Erie alone to grasp the idea of the usefulness of such a one, and place it at the disposal of the public. It should be remembered, also, by returning travelers that agents of the Erie Railway meet all steamers on their arrival in New York from Europe, and extend to passengers conveniences and courtesies that save them not only much tribulation and anxiety, but valuable time and no little money. These are things the traveling public should know, and we take pleasure in directing attention to them.

The Potter's Trap.

A fable by the New York Evening Post. A certain Ceramic Artist, the son of a Clerk, having need of an animal to turn his Mill, went into the woods of Louisiana one day, gaily singing "Turn, turn my wheel," and there at a Trap, with a strong Lion, which he meant to harness to the mill, he mixed the mud. He baited the Trap with a live Supervisor, and waited for the Result. When he again visited the Trap he found it sprung, but to his disgust there was in it only a poor, lolling little Chipmunk which had got in trying to extricate the impaled supervisor. The game was securely caught and it squealed loudly, but it was too small to turn the Potter's wheel.

Moral: The value of Success in Trapping depends upon the Character of the Game.

Newspaper Luck.

It is seldom that a newspaper editor is so fortunate as the co-editor and co-proprietor of the Manchester (England) Examiner. He is the author of the article on "Crows and Constitution" in the Quarterly Review. Some months ago he received a last offer of $20,000 a year to join the editorial staff of the London Times, and about the same time $22,000 by the London News on the same terms. The owners of the Examiner, however, offered him an equal partnership in the paper, which yields him $50,000 a year and independent of the sum of $20,000 a year in the United States, $10,000 a year was an unknown salary for an editorial writer. Now there are several who are paid that sum and upward.

THE MERCHANTS' EXCURSION.

It Meets With a Hearty Reception Along its Route—The Greeting at La Crosse.

The excursion party which left Milwaukee Monday morning had a very pleasant experience during its first day. At Watertown a twenty-minute stop was made. Postmaster Moak, William H. Clark, of the Bank of Watertown, Hon. Luther A. Cole, and other prominent citizens greeted the excursionists. At Portage it was understood a delegation of business men would await a hearty reception, but through a misinterpretation of the hour of arrival the intended demonstration did not occur. An hour and a half was spent for dinner, which was served at the Fox House.

At Kilbourn but twenty minutes was given. However the time passed to the best advantage, the excursionists visiting the new bridge, from whence a taste of the magnificent scenery for which the locality is famous could be seen.

At Lisbon the national colors were flying, and hundreds of people were gathered. Business was entirely suspended, and the schools were dismissed to enable all to participate in the greeting. Prof. B. M. Key-nolds ascended the platform of the rear car and made hearty congratulatory remarks in behalf of the New Lisbon people. Brief responses were made by President Goodrich and E. D. Holton. The train departed amid loud cheering.

At Sparta over 1,000 people in carriages and on foot were assembled. There were about seventy-five turn-outs in which the guests were invited to seats, the procession when formed, being fully three-quarters of a mile long. The points of interest in the city were first visited when the excursionists were driven up Hollow Bluff, just northeast of the city. On top of the bluff is a tower from which a magnificent view of the country for miles around is commanded. Returning to the city, refreshments were served on the lawn in front of the Warner house, by the ladies, who supplied each with a tulip-blossom bouquet. Speeches were made by Mayor Beck, John H. Goodrich, G. Jenkins, Rev. Dr. Fulton and Geo. W. Allen, and responsive remarks were made by J. M. Morrow, of Sparta. Re-entering the carriages, the excursionists were driven to the depot, the train pulling out amid loud cheers by both parties.

At La Crosse the excursionists were met by a delegation of citizens and were marched to the International Hotel, headed by Back's Band, where they were met by Mayor Law and others. The streets were thronged with people. After supper an immense procession was formed and a grand ovation given at Germania Hall. The park was lighted by hundreds of Chinese lanterns and several thousand people were present. After a concert by Back's band, a speech of welcome was delivered by Postmaster Seymour. The response in behalf of the Association was made by Judge Mallory. Colonel Rudolph, a pioneer settler, John Nazro and General Hincks spoke. After cheers for Milwaukee and La Crosse the procession reformed and marched to the hotel, where they dispersed.

Another Quickened Conscience.

Oil City, (Pennsylvania), Derrick. During a lull in the conversation yesterday evening, grandfather Lickeshingle started the family by remarking: "I've lived over a hundred years by the watch, and never felt this way before," and he blinked in a very sorrowful manner.

"What's the matter?" asked mother, who was at his side in an instant.

"I don't know," he said, "unless I have a quickened conscience," and he blinked and stared by turns in a very alarming manner.

"I feel sort of hot around the ears," he went on, "an' member I'd better confess."

"His whole frame trembled like a leaf and a deadly pallor overspread his face. A wind of wrath was blown upon him, which seemed to revive him, and he said in a hoarse voice: "I wrote 'Beautiful Snow'!"

"You did nothing of the sort," yelled father, "I wrote it myself, and can prove it!"

Grandfather went on with his confession: "I killed old man Junius and the Nathan Letters! Bind up your horse! Give me another wound!"

Another window was opened.

"I voted for Til—"

Something rose in the wretched man's throat and choked off the dreadful sentence. Summoning his strength again he whispered:

"It was I who struck Billy Patterson—struck him twice; once for a V, next time for twenty," and grandfather fell back in his chair exhausted.

Eating is a Torture.

And sleep often a mere travesty of repose, to the dyspeptic. Appetite is correspondingly impaired by this most prevalent of maladies, and headaches, biliousness, constipation, poverty of the blood, loss of flesh, and of vitality, and a thousand annoying and indescribable sensations, are its concomitants. It is, moreover, the progenitor of numerous and formidable bodily disorders. Obsolete as it is, however, its complete eradication may be effected by the persistent use of Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, a medicine which communicates both vigor and regularity to the organs of digestion and secretion, relaxes the blood, promotes appetite, and gives tranquility to the nervous system. Persons of weakly constitution and feeble physique who use this superb tonic infallibly derive from it the stamina of which they stand so much in need, and it is invariably successful in remedying and preventing malarial diseases.

"Dobbins' Electric Soap."

Having obtained the agency of this celebrated Soap for Janesville and vicinity, I append the opinion of some of our best people to its merits. I have washed with "Dobbins' Electric Soap" made by L. L. Craig & Co., Philadelphia, Pennsylvania, and pronounce it the best soap I have ever used. The rapidity and ease with which it enables one to do once washing is really surprising. Boiling the clothes is entirely unnecessary and no rubbing is needed. I would not be without it.

NEALIE KENNISTON.

I have no hesitation in saying that no house-keeper should be without Dobbins' Electric Soap. I can heartily recommend it, it is a charm in the wash-tub.

As a time, labor and money saving agent, I take pleasure in recommending Dobbins' Electric Soap to my neighbors. It promotes cleanliness and does all it promises.

I take pleasure in calling attention to the testimonial as we have just made arrangements with the manufacturers in Philadelphia, so that we can supply the trade at their lowest Philadelphia price.

BRIEFLETS.

—Warmish.
—Put away the little sister.
—Take a look at the pictures at the art exhibition.
—The First Methodist church give a unique time entertainment at Lappin's hall to-night.
—Prof. Kaueley denies that he is about to leave the city, and says he is going on with his teaching as usual.
—Men ought to be in better business than standing around a stable watching a dog-fight such a pleasant day as this.
—The orchestral grand piano, which Prof. Titcomb put into his music rooms yesterday, weighs 1,400 pounds and is of Hallet & Davis make.
—The Bower City Band went to Albion this morning to furnish music for the commencement exercises there to-day, and to give a concert this evening.
—The Knights of Pythias initiated last evening three new members, and received seven more applications. They will hold a special meeting to-morrow night.
—The law is being so fully obeyed that the Justice shops look as well as a church on a hot Sunday, when folks only keep awake long enough to brush off flies.
—Mr. J. R. Maxwell, of Cope & Maxwell, manufacturers of the Ironclad Pumping Engine, of Cincinnati, Ohio, is in the city to-day talking over the subject of water-works.
—A meeting of the Baptist church and society will be held Thursday evening, at a quarter past eight o'clock, for the purpose of reaching a conclusion concerning a pastor. All persons interested are expected to be present.
—School District No. 6, of the town of Janesville, is in a squabble. Mr. James Heims, who was elected their clerk, refuses to act, and they have commenced proceedings against him before Justice Wickham. The case was called up this morning and adjourned until July 21. It is expected that there will be a lively legal combat.
—Washington steamer was out throwing water last night, for the purpose of lumbering up the machinery and keeping it in working order. The Chief Engineer finds it necessary to exercise the engines occasionally, and there not having been any fires for them to work on for about six weeks, it has become a habit, as all familiar with machinery know, to work them, even if there is no fire to play upon.
—Mr. Frank Brooks, of this city, delivered the valedictory at the graduation exercises at the University Law School, at Madison, yesterday. The Wisconsin State Journal speaks very highly of the address, and gives space for its publication in full. Mr. Brooks' many friends in this city will be glad to learn that the duty of honor thus bestowed was successfully performed, but that is just what they expected.
—Mr. Frank Whitaker has added to his library three aged books, which are of considerable interest, one printed in 1612, being the Apocrypha in Latin and Greek, another printed in 1635 being enquiries concerning the diversity of languages and religions, and an ecclesiastical and sacred history printed in 1683. He has also lately procured an English dictionary published in 1725, which is complete in two volumes, giving many words which are now used only in slang, and many which are now obsolete.
—A reference to Mr. J. A. Denniston's advertisement will prove profitable to those going on excursions, or desire the best article of food for lunches and picnics. In these special lines his stock is full, attractive and the choicest in the city. The articles, of which he gives but a partial list in his announcement to the public, will give a person some idea of the extent and the varied and excellent character of his assortment. In the lines of canned goods and fancy groceries, he is the prince of dealers. His bakery is in full blast, and turns out breads and cakes which nowhere can be surpassed.
—There was a lively trial before Justice Wickham, yesterday, in which a large representation from Shopiere and the town of Turtle was interested. It was an assault case brought by French Earl against J. P. Fonda, two neighbors who had some slight disagreement which ended in blows. There was no serious damage done, but about forty witnesses deemed it necessary to tell all they had seen and heard about it. Not more than half of them were examined, and the others were sent home without any fees, which made them grumble greatly. Fonda was fined $5 and costs, amounting to a goodly sum beside.
—"Does death end all?" is the subject on which Rev. Joseph Cook, of Boston, will talk, Tuesday evening July 2, at the Congregational church. The tickets have been placed at the low price of fifty cents, and there will be no extra charge for reserved seats. The sale of tickets will commence at Moseley's Saturday morning June 22. The lecture is to commence at 8 o'clock in the evening of July 2, and the doors will be open at 7 o'clock. Such an opportunity to hear this orator should not be neglected, and those desiring tickets should apply as soon as possible after the sale is opened. Orders by mail will receive prompt attention.
—Some youthful ramblers are charged with having helped themselves too freely to strawberries from the grounds of the Institution of the Blind, and the officers have been for some days hunting them up. Early this morning Constable Taylor came across Dave Griffin, one of the boys accused. Dave was lying on a sidewalk in the Fourth Ward, asleep and drunk. He shook him up and started for jail with him but Dave gave him the slip and gave the constable a lively chase over fences and across lots. Taylor had the best legs, and the most wind, and captured his man, and locked him up safely. He will probably have to wait until the rest of those suspected are run in.
—THE WEATHER.
The thermometer at 7 o'clock this morning stood at 75 degrees above and at 2 o'clock 80 degrees above. Cloudy. One year ago to-day the thermometer stood at 60 degrees and 65 degrees above.

The indications to-day are, for the lake region, warmer, clear, or partly cloudy weather; light, variable winds; partly from the south; stationary or lower temperature and pressure.

LOVE'S LABOR LOST.

A Beloit Young Man Puts a Bullet into His Brain Because He Was Jilted—His Death Hourly Expected.

Mr. R. S. Church's young man about twenty-five years of age, shot himself yesterday morning, through the head, about six o'clock. The ball entering the temple, passed around back and lodged in the base of the brain. As usual there was "a woman in the case." We learn the young man had been discarded last Sunday by a lady to whom he had been paying attentions, and that he told her then he should shoot himself. He purchased a twenty-shilling pistol at Calvert's yesterday, which he used as he had threatened, this morning. He left a written request that his body be rolled up in a sheet and placed in a rough box and buried in the Potter's field, this, as he said, to save expense, that the money might go to pay his debts. He further requested, that the City Guards, to which he belonged, be not allowed, as a body, to attend his funeral. At this writing, twenty-four hours since the shooting, the young man is still breathing, but no hope is entertained of his recovery.

EXHIBITION OF ART.

The Art Exhibition which the ladies of this city have been working so faithfully and earnestly to prepare, opened last evening. The display is really a fine one, and one which needs to be studied closely, in order to be fully appreciated, and yet the careless sight-seer will find much of interest even in a hasty ramble. Still, it can only be truly enjoyed by leisurely examining the many productions of art there set forth.

It is impossible to give any well-defined description of a title of the many things displayed. The Brice-A-Brac room alone contains enough rare and curious relics of the by-gone, and enough variety of modern art to make an exhibition by itself worthy of a liberal patronage. In the parlors are found oil paintings from the easels of the old masters, as well as those of more modern times, and also some fine pieces from the brush of some of our local artists. Photographs and engravings furnish also a complete study of almost every school of almost every age. One department is filled with many and rare curiosities from China and Japan, probably the largest collection ever shown in this city. Another department shows the varieties of lace. The statuary department is well filled, and contains some really choice pieces. To those who delight in architecture and natural scenery, photographs abound.

One of the chief advantages of the display is the comfort what is secured for everyone who attends. The pictures are so arranged that they can be inspected closely, and with seats on every hand, the looker on can, if he so chooses, sit down and study a picture at his leisure. The ladies too have posted themselves thoughtfully and are able to explain all that is necessary to know concerning the articles displayed, and everything is also labeled, and in fact those who attend are given every possible chance for not only seeing, but knowing what they have seen. It is a much larger display than was expected, and no

SOMETHING FOR SLEEPERS.

Mr. A. S. Lee, who is well known to many of our citizens, has taken the agency of the Manhattan spring bed bottom, which is surely one of the best ever made. It is arranged so that there are no hiding places for bugs, no chance for the springs to rust, easily adjusted to any sized bedstead, does not wear the bedding, and its head can be raised to any desired height, which is a great convenience especially in sickness. Those who want to see them can be gratified by stopping at L. B. Cutting's furniture store, two doors west of the express office. Mr. Lee will doubtless meet with great success in selling the new spring bed.

MERRY MINSTRELS.

Haverly's New Orleans Minstrels appeared last night in their role of fun and frolic at the Opera house. They had only a fair house, but they presented a more than fair entertainment to those who were present. Some features of the entertainment were very fine indeed, and all were above the average. In fact the troupe is superior to any of that kind which have visited the city for some time past. The musical part of the programme was particularly excellent, and especially that given by the quartet. Benjamin is in some respects a wonder on the cornet, he making a specialty of climbing up higher than it is generally supposed a cornet can reach. He and Gordon played a fine duet. The olio was throughout full of fun and merit. Adams and Lee with their various musical instruments called forth special applause. The programme closed with a laughable burlesque. Those who missed the entertainment, missed a rare treat. Those who had faith that Haverly would not send forth any swindle show, were not disappointed.

STURDY SURPRISE.

A happy surprise was last evening perpetrated on one of the High School teachers, Miss Etta S. Carle. She is about to start for Europe, in company with Mrs. G. F. Griswold, who is now visiting friends in the East. Last evening Miss Carle was induced to take a buggy ride, and on her return, found the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Luther Clark, filled with pupils and friends, there being beside others, representatives from two of the classes which have already graduated at the High School, and three of the classes which are still under her instruction. The occasion was a highly enjoyable social event, and the chit-chat was only broken once for Prof. Burton to present her in behalf of those present, with an elegant silver and cut glass toilet set, and a gold mounted opera glass. Miss Emma Joselyn sang an appropriate solo, "Grand Old Ocean." Refreshments were served, and there was nothing lacking to make the surprise as enjoyable as it was complete. There are many besides those who were present, who wish her no less heartily a safe and happy journey, and a speedy return.

A NEW POSTOFFICE.

The official papers have been received for the establishing of a new postoffice about half-way between this city and Beloit, and D. F. Kenyon, who lives on the Miner farm, has been appointed postmaster. The office will probably open for business the first of July. There have been many who for a long time have been urging the establishment of a postoffice there for the convenience of those who do not want to travel so far for their mail, and their efforts have at last been rewarded with success.

OUT DOOR SPORTS.

THE TURF.

At Grand Rapids yesterday, Conroy won the three minute race, making the best time of the race in the sixth and deciding heat, it being made in 2:30. In the 2:36 class Woodford Mambino the sire of Conroy, won, his best heat being in 2:28 1/2. The horse Dictator, entered in the 2:26 race, was seized by the sheriff and turned over to an officer from Kansas City, and was taken at once as far as Chicago.

At Davenport, yesterday, the 2:26 race was won by Modoc, the best time being 2:25.

BASE BALL.

At Milwaukee, yesterday, the Chicagoes were defeated by the Milwaukeees by 7 to 5. The Peorias defeated the Davenportes, yesterday, 7 to 2.

HARVARD.

—Gerrit H. Nash, State Deputy of the I. O. of G. T., delivered a lecture on temperance to the citizens of this place, at the school house Thursday evening, June 13th. At the place of the lecture we were all given a chance to affix our "Wm. Henry's" to a petition asking for a charter to organize a lodge at this point. With but very little trouble the requisite number of petitioners were secured, and a lodge will probably be organized the present week. We are very much pleased to see work of this nature springing up in our midst, and truly hope it may prove a success, we see no reason why it should not as the present prospect is very favorable.

EVANSVILLE.

—The weather the present week has been the finest during the year 1873. Farmers are busy with their crops, so that our streets do not present so lively an appearance as usual.

—Messrs. Johnson & Steven Bro's have commenced receiving wool for the season as a visit to their warehouse will prove.

—Mr. Adelbert Bullard is enjoying the early luxuries of the season as he had new potatoes on his table June 23, grown in his fine garden.

—Messrs. A. Bullard and S. B. Heddies, with their ladies, visited the scene of the late tornado on Sunday last and reported the result of the storm as being not exaggerated in the least by the previous accounts given.

—Mr. C. Rosa drives as fine a pair of blacks over the road as we have seen for a good while.

—Charles Van Wart, son of Hon. David Van Wart of Porter, received a serious injury last week while the parties were moving the school house, his hand getting caught in the rope and pulley and causing a serious injury.

—We are great complainers from the farmers about the serious destruction the gophers are making in the corn crop. Many say they never have seen them work so bad as at the present time.

COOKSVILLE.

—The Cooksville cheese factory sold a car load of cheese last week for 7 cents, delivered on the cars. They were bought for A. W. & F. W. Leggett, of New York, who know the Cooksville cheese to be fine.

—Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Dow returned from their visit to Iowa last week. He reports business quite good.

—The little old Dudley Van Vleck came very near losing an arm last Sunday. While at play visiting his grandfather, he came near falling from the veranda, and was only saved by being caught by the arm; but the strain on it was so severe that a physician was called in. He thinks it will be all right in a short time.

—Friends Wilson & Tinsley, of the Times are reminded that Cooksville does not claim to be responsible for all sins committed seven or eight miles from here. We are only a small burgh in the north-west corner of the town, and Joe referred to, lived in the southeast corner of the town of Porter. Go slow, Mr. Times.

—The tobacco farmers are getting the ground ready for setting plants, and the few warm days are pushing their growth rapidly.

—We are informed that the Rev. Mr. Craig will deliver the oration at Evansville on the fourth of July, and we are quite sure he will draw a crowd, as he is a fine speaker, and has a host of friends in this section of the country.

BELOIT.

—Mr. and Mrs. Clark Nye of the town of Beloit, celebrated their golden wedding on Saturday the 15th inst. The occasion was a hearty reunion of "old home," where were gathered from far and from near, the children and the children's children to the third generation at least, together with a large delegation from our city and elsewhere. There were beautiful golden presents and silver presents surmounted with the more precious metal, and to crown all a sumptuous feast such as fifty years experience in housewifery could afford fit one to provide.

—Prof. T. C. Chamberlin of our city, sails for Paris July 10th, to be present at the Exposition, and more especially to be present at the meeting of "Geologists of the World," before which august body he has been accorded the honor of reading a paper upon some special branch of the science he represents. Mr. Chamberlin expects to return and resume his reports of the State about the middle of September.

—Another town was captured last night by the Beloit Red Ribbon club. About sixty of the club with some others took a special car and went down to Shirland, where a rousing temperance meeting was held. The meeting was addressed by Rev. H. P. Higley, J. B. Dow, Esq., and thirteen others from Beloit and Shirland. At the close of the speaking a call was made for red ribbon recruits, and about one hundred and thirty came forward and signed the pledge and tied on the ribbon. The best of feeling prevailed and the party returned about midnight well satisfied with their work.

FOOTVILLE.

—Miss Jennie Nash, who has acquired quite a reputation as a temperance lecturer, will deliver a free lecture on the subject, in the Methodist church, at this place, Saturday evening of this week. Let her have a full house.

—The strawberry festival held at the residence of Edward Jones, on last Tuesday evening, was very well attended, and everybody seemed to have a good time. The proceeds were to be used for the benefit of the Young American Agricultural Association, of Center, and they made quite a little stake.

—Miss Emma Robbins, the daughter of a former pastor of the M. E. church at this place, made her old friends here a short visit a few days since. She stayed but a short time however as the parson thought the condition of the atmosphere he was in there would be a change in the weather soon.

—The biggest picnic of the season will be held near here on the Fourth. The Catholic population of this vicinity and also of Brodhead, Albany and Monroe will combine and hold their annual picnic here. There will be an immense crowd, and of course a good time.

—Strawberry festival at Crowell's last night.

—Mrs. J. D. Mabie, who has been very sick for some time, is at present improving.

—Beef is cheap with three butchers in town.

—J. W. Lyman has the finest bed of straw berries in the business.

—W. J. Owen will soon remove his store across the street and also build on a more extensive scale.

MILTON.

—At the Milton house book agents hold the winning trick and when the school closes the surrounding country will be inundated with canvassers for subscription books, and undertakers will be full of business, we fear.

—Prof. Scaring delivered his interesting and instructive lecture on "Russia" at College Chapel, Tuesday evening.

—Messrs. Hall and Hamilton are moving the park Monday afternoon and are to have the grass for doing the work.

—Mr. Owen Spaulding, of Gill's Landing, was in town Monday.

—Prof. J. M. Stillman is in town this week to attend the Northwestern Association of Seventh Day Baptists.

—Messrs. Phillips and Cramb, proprietors of the cheese factory, arrived in town Monday, and are busily engaged in putting in the fixtures for manufacturing cheese. The outfit will be first-class in every respect, and the proprietors will be ready to take in milk Monday morning.
